Notes for users of this Certificate

The Summary of attainment section lists all the Group Awards, Courses and stand-alone Units that the candidate has achieved since 1994. Certificate holders can obtain information about earlier attainments by contacting SQA.

The Detailed record of attainment section lists all the Group Awards, Courses and Units the candidate has achieved since last issued with a certificate.

The Profiles section shows the candidate's current achievements in Core Skills and SCQF credits.

- ◆ Core Skills are the five skills that are important for work. They are often achieved automatically, being embedded in other qualifications. The highest possible level for a Core Skill is 6.
- ◆ The SCQF is a way of describing and comparing Scottish qualifications. It links with other frameworks in the UK and Europe. It describes a qualification by giving it a level to show how hard it is, and a number of credit points to show how much work is involved. There are 12 levels, level 1 being the simplest and level 12 the most complex. One credit point represents approximately 10 hours of effort. There is more information about the SCQF at www.scqf.org.uk.

There is more information about the Scottish Qualifications Certificate and about SQA qualifications at www.sqa.org.uk.

Important: Altering this certificate makes it invalid.
